A Wonderful Association with RChilli

Sharedpro was looking for an effective solution to help them parse their resumes in a detailed manner. The company was transparent about choosing a solution that could clearly understand their requirements and provide quick results. After extensive research for parsing vendors, they found RChilli, and until now, Sharedpro has been amazed by its remarkable results.

The RChilli tool has enabled Sharedpro to accurately process a high volume of resumes, significantly reducing manual data entry and associated errors. This efficiency has allowed Sharedpro to respond to job applications more swiftly, enhancing candidate experience and satisfaction.

Furthermore, integrating RChilli's technology has empowered Sharedpro to fine-tune their recruitment strategies based on reliable data analytics, optimizing their hiring outcomes.

Enhancing Functionality with RChilli

Sharedpro offers companies the flexibility to customize their settings globally. For instance, companies can easily adjust these settings if they prefer not to display employee names or emails. Users must upload a folder, and the RChilli resume parser extracts resume information into over 200+ data fields.

This technology doesn't just pull visible data from resumes. It also uncovers hidden details. For example, if a resume doesn't specify total work experience, RChilli calculates this information in the background and provides an exact figure.

Moreover, with the help of RChilli 24*7 customer support, we were able to resolve the client's queries on time.
