About JobSync

JobSync connects a company's ATS directly to the Easy Apply functionality from job sites, including any job-specific questions. This can more than double the number of applicants a company receives while maintaining quality. Today, most companies direct candidates from a job search platform to a company job page, on their ATS. The result? Significant loss of qualified applicants. JobSync's Integrated Direct Apply creates a seamless application process - improving both the candidate experience and your talent acquisition team's ability to hit their hiring goals.

How JobSync Chose RChilli

JobSync was looking for a resume parsing partner who could help them provide a better candidate and recruiter experience.

JobSync chose RChilli because not only did RChilli have all the required functionality, its team is incredibly responsive and able to quickly add options and functionality as required by the new customers JobSync brings on. Whether JobSync needed additional languages, certifications, etc., RChilli ensured that it matched those requirements into its API quickly to address JobSync's customers' needs. JobSync chose RChilli because of its outstanding partnership.

JobSync-RChilli Use Case

In the video, John Bell discusses a specific use case of JobSync and RChilli. In the application process, job boards require the candidates to build a profile and also upload a resume. When the candidates click on the apply button, it redirects them to a customer's ATS that then asks that candidate to set up login credentials and then to create a second profile and upload their resume a second time. This results in redundant data entry for candidates, and a high abandonment rate, resulting in not enough candidates for recruiters.

JobSync wants to eliminate duplicate data entry (and login screens) for candidates and increase the total candidates for each job for recruiters. To do this, JobSync keeps candidates on the job board for the entire application process, eliminating the need to redirect them to the ATS to complete the same process.

Once JobSync pulls the resume from the job board, it parses the resume with the help of RChilli and populates the application form fields instantaneously. This results in a better candidate experience as the candidate does not have to fill in the same information repeatedly.
